EPIDEMIOLOGY DEPARTMENT

Chair: Stephen Kimmel
Ph.D. Program Director: Cindy Prins
M.S. Program Director: Heather Stark

The Department of Epidemiology – jointly governed by the College of Public Health and Health Professions and the College of Medicine – offers the Doctor of Philosophy degree in epidemiology, Master of Science degree in epidemiology (MSE), the Certificate in Psychiatric Epidemiology (CPE), and the Master of Public Health degree with a concentration in epidemiology (described here (http://gradcatalog.ufl.edu/graduate/colleges-departments/public-health-professions/interdisciplinary-departments/public-health-mph/)). Minimum requirements for these degrees are described in the Graduate Degrees (http://gradcatalog.ufl.edu/graduate/degrees/) section of this catalog. The programs in the department are designed to prepare students for careers in academic research environments, public health agencies and health-related institutions, and consultation, especially in the biomedical fields.

More information on these programs is available at the program page below and at the department website: http://epidemiology.phhp.ufl.edu.
