THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

Missions, Visions, and Values

Mission of the University

The University of Florida is a comprehensive learning institution built on a land-grant foundation. We are The Gator Nation, a diverse community dedicated to excellence in education and research and shaping a better future for Florida, the nation and the world.

Our mission is to enable our students to lead and influence the next generation and beyond for economic, cultural and societal benefit.

The university welcomes the full exploration of its intellectual boundaries and supports its faculty and students in the creation of new knowledge and the pursuit of new ideas.

- Teaching is a fundamental purpose of this university at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.
- Research and scholarship are integral to the educational process and to the expansion of our understanding of the natural world, the intellect and the senses.
- Service reflects the university's obligation to share the benefits of its research and knowledge for the public good. The university serves the nation's and the state's critical needs by contributing to a well-qualified and broadly diverse citizenry, leadership and workforce.

The University of Florida must create the broadly diverse environment necessary to foster multi-cultural skills and perspectives in its teaching and research for its students to contribute and succeed in the world of the 21st century.

These three interlocking elements — teaching, research and scholarship, and service — span all the university's academic disciplines and represent the university's commitment to lead and serve the state of Florida, the nation and the world by pursuing and disseminating new knowledge while building upon the experiences of the past. The university aspires to advance by strengthening the human condition and improving the quality of life.

Tom Kelleher
Ph.D. (University of Florida), Associate Dean, Academic Affairs

Judy Traveis
Ph.D. (University of Florida), Associate Dean, Student Affairs

Please find information regarding the Graduate School’s current organization (p. 1) of offices and historical information about the previous Deans (https://gradcatalog.ufl.edu/graduate/school/#Governance) and history (p. 4) below. For biographical and contact information for the Graduate School’s staff, consult the Graduate School Personnel (http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/about-us/contacts/) pages on the UF Graduate School’s website (http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/).

Organization

The Graduate School currently consists of the Dean, an Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, an Associate Dean for Student Affairs (http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/about-us/contacts/), the Graduate Council (http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/faculty–staff/resources/graduate-council/), (p. 1) the Graduate Faculty (https://gradcatalog.ufl.edu/graduate/faculty/), and the Graduate School staff (http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/about-us/offices/). The Graduate School is responsible for establishing, monitoring and enforcing minimum general standards of graduate study in the University and for coordinating the graduate programs of the various colleges and divisions of the University.

Responsibility for the detailed operation of graduate programs is vested in individual colleges, schools, divisions, and academic units. In most colleges, an associate dean or other administrator is directly responsible for graduate studies in that college.

General policies and standards of the Graduate School are established by the Graduate Faculty as represented by the Graduate Council. Policy changes must be approved by the graduate dean(s) and the Graduate Council. The Graduate Council (chaired by the Graduate Dean) considers graduate education policy and policy changes and the creation of or revisions to graduate degree programs, majors, concentrations, certificates, and other graduate education initiatives.

Appointment to the Graduate Faculty

All faculty members who serve on supervisory committees or who direct master’s theses and doctoral dissertations must first be appointed to the Graduate Faculty. University of Florida faculty members who are appointed to full-time faculty positions in tenured or tenure-accruing positions are appointed to the Graduate Faculty as a matter of course, shortly after the time of their appointment to the university faculty. For all others, a graduate degree program’s academic unit nominates faculty members for appointment to the Graduate Faculty. Nominations must be approved by the Department Chair/Director, the College Dean, and a vote of the current graduate faculty members in the nominating unit. The appointment is formally made by the Graduate Dean. The academic unit determines the level of duties for each Graduate Faculty member, though it is expected that all Graduate Faculty members should be available and willing to serve as external members of doctoral dissertation committees throughout the University of Florida.

The Graduate School Staff

Graduate School Editorial Office
With staff located in Grinter Hall, the Graduate School Editorial Office provides editorial assistance to UF's graduate students completing the thesis or dissertation process. The Graduate Council requires the Graduate School Editorial Office, as agents of the Dean of the Graduate School, to review theses and dissertations for acceptable format and to make recommendations as needed. The Editorial Office also assists UF's graduate faculty, academic unit staff, and administration with the development of new programs and courses within the graduate curriculum and by publishing the Graduate Catalog.

The Editorial Office provides information about format requirements (http://www.graduateschool.ufl.edu/about-us/offices/editorial/format-requirements/) on the editorial page (http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/about-us/offices/editorial/) of the Graduate School website in order to help students prepare their manuscripts for submission to the Graduate School. The office facilitates the thesis and dissertation process by providing clear guidelines (http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/media/graduate-school/pdf-files/Guide-for-ETDs-2021.pdf) and checklists (http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/graduate-life/graduation/graduation-checklist/#den240936) and by outlining the procedures to follow when completing the thesis or dissertation. In order to complete degree requirements, all thesis and dissertation students must gain final clearance status with the Editorial Office by each of the posted deadlines (http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/about-us/offices/editorial/editorial-deadlines/) for the term in which they intend for the degree to be awarded. Upon submission to the Graduate School Editorial Office, a thesis or dissertation should be near-final and must be completely formatted. It will not be accepted as meeting the first submission requirements in draft form. Additionally, master's theses must be orally defended before making a submission to the Graduate School Editorial Office. Therefore, the Final Exam data must be posted to SIS by departmental staff before the document can be submitted to the Editorial Office for review. Subsequently, a master's student who does not defend the thesis prior to the first submission deadline will not be eligible for a degree award in the current term; nor is the student a clear-prior candidate to the following term since they were unable to meet the first submission requirement during the posted deadlines for the term. Upon final submission to the Graduate School, the thesis or dissertation must be of publishable quality as defined by the Graduate School's Editorial Office and must be in a form suitable for publication, using the Graduate School's format requirements found here (http://www.graduateschool.ufl.edu/about-us/offices/editorial/format-requirements/) and within the Guide for Preparing Theses and Dissertations (http://www.graduateschool.ufl.edu/media/graduate-school/pdf-files/Guide-for-ETDs-2021.pdf). All submission documents found on the checklists (http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/graduate-life/graduation/graduation-checklist/#den240936) must be recorded and posted to the student's record within all published deadlines (http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/about-us/offices/editorial/editorial-deadlines/) for the term. The student's academic unit is responsible for the academic merit, quality, and scholarship of their student's manuscripts.

For more information, contact the UF Graduate School’s Editorial Office (http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/editorial/) by calling (352) 392.1282 or via an email to grad-edit@ufl.edu (https://gradcatalog.ufl.edu/graduate/school/mail%20to:grad-edit@ufl.edu).

Graduate Student Records Office
Graduate Student Records staff work with academic units to support students throughout their graduate careers, including degree certification and graduation. The office is responsible for keeping official graduate student records and ensuring compliance with all Graduate Council and University policies.

Graduate Student Success Center
The Graduate Student Success Center was created with the graduate student at its core. We are here to enhance your graduate student experience by promoting holistic development and creating a community of belonging.

Graduate education is a decentralized model in which your department and in some cases your college take a leading role in your academic program. However, the departments cannot do it all; and our focus is on helping to identify and provide support to you so that you can navigate your journey successfully.

The Graduate Student Success Center was established to support potential graduate students, current students, faculty, and staff in the areas of ...

With any project we work on or whomever we are assisting, values frame our efforts. The values that shape our work include: Integrity Service Advocacy Empathy Collaboration Innovation

Office of Graduate Student Support and Engagement
Purpose: The Office of Graduate Student Support and Engagement aims to build and sustain an inclusive community that provides comprehensive graduate student support and engagement services to promote academic success, personal development, and social well-being, so our graduates can transform the global economy.

OGSSE aims to create and nurture a welcoming and inclusive environment that encourages diversity of thought and empowers students to participate in programs that foster inclusion for all graduate students.

- OGSSE strives to provide currently enrolled graduate students with programs and services to assist and support the pursuit of successful graduate education.

- OGSSE provides students with social, informational, referral, and in some cases, financial support.

- OGSSE maintains partnerships with administrative offices, academic units, research centers, student services, and organizations across campus to promote holistic, inclusive excellence in the graduate experience. OGSSE represents the university at a variety of national and regional conferences, as well as visiting and seeking to establish relationships with institutions to attract prospective students.

- OGSSE provides prospective and enrolled doctoral students from non-traditional backgrounds with resources and mentoring to help them successfully pursue an excellent graduate education.

Support
OGSSE conducts the Florida Board of Education (BOE) Summer Fellowship Program to assist entering nontraditional doctoral students to become more quickly acclimated to the university setting. OGSSE supports social activities to facilitate student socialization and networking, and professional development activities such as dissertation and other writing groups are offered through OGSSE.

Completion
OGDI coordinates several funding opportunities to assist nontraditional Ph.D. students to successfully complete their programs. These opportunities include the Supplemental Retention Scholarship Award and Doctoral Support Assistance. For additional information about the Office of Graduate Student Support and Engagement or any of its programs and funding opportunities, please visit OGSSE’s website (http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/about-us/offices/gssc/ogsse/).

Office of Graduate Professional Development
The Office of Graduate Professional Development (OGPD) (https://gradadvance.graduateschool.ufl.edu/) in the Graduate Student Success Center provides professional development activities and programs for UF graduate students. These initiatives include providing activities and resources to help students set professional development goals, develop core competencies to successfully complete their graduate degree, and gain the necessary skills to transition into diverse career paths upon graduation.

Initiatives led by OGPD and offered in collaboration with various campus units include weekly professional development workshops, the Writing Program (all terms), Women Lead: Leadership Institute for Early Career Scholars, Preparing Future Faculty, 3 Minute Thesis competition, New Student Orientation, New TA Orientation, and the Job Search Series.

Office of Postdoc Affairs & Prestigious Awards
This office provides direction to the Post-Doctoral Affairs Office and will develop and lead programmatic aspects of post-doctoral education including oversight of individual development plans, human resource needs, and liaison with Graduate School staff in creating and supporting professional development needs. Additionally, this office will bring fellowship expertise to the Graduate School, colleges and other offices, areas on and off campus, and our population of predoctoral scholars and graduate students. This includes creating and maintaining active lists of funding opportunities for graduate students, as well as providing assistance in the completion of award packets.

Graduate Student Recruitment
The Associate Director of Graduate Recruitment is an important professional member of the Graduate School’s Graduate Student Success Center. This position is responsible for assisting and advising graduate programs on ways to increase domestic and international graduate student enrollment. The Associate Director is responsible for the management of Slate and Salesforce/CRM. Additionally, creation of strategic communications, event modules, and of marketing materials. Work is performed with considerable independence under the supervision of the Associate Dean, Graduate Student Affairs.

Grad CARE
In collaboration with the UF Graduate School and UF Student Life, the Assistant Director for Care is a non-clinical case manager role designed to help graduate students overcome challenges that may impact their personal and academic success at the University of Florida. The Assistant Director for Care (1) is a primary contact for inquiries from graduate students, faculty, staff, and families to support graduate student issues related to distress, crisis and mental health concerns; (2) supports graduate students experiencing distress/mental health issues and/or going through the medical withdrawal process, with a focus on prioritizing issues and coordinating UF and community resources in order to maximize the graduate student’s success (includes significant work with families, faculty, staff, and other affected individuals); (3) is a facilitator of problem solving who hears concerns, interprets policies and procedures, makes appropriate referrals, assists graduate students and others with the understanding of an array of resolution options, and weighs the consequences of a variety of decisions; and (4) is a facilitator of problem solving who hears concerns, interprets policies and procedures, to make appropriate courses of action to aid student’s understanding of Medical Petition process through Dean of Students Office (DSO) and the UF Graduate School; (5) coordinates, develops, and presents educational content and outreach programs through multiple platforms to the University community focused on graduate student development, health, and wellbeing. This Assistant Director also serves as an on-call staff member in the office during business hours and after hours as needed and performs other duties as assigned.

Announcements of events hosted by the Graduate Student Success Center and the deadlines for all award programs are made through the graduate student listserv. For more information, visit the website at http://graduateschool.ufl.edu/about-us/offices/gssc/ or send an email to gradschool@aa.ufl.edu.

Graduate Council (2023-2024)
The Graduate Council, chaired by the Dean (p. 5), is a joint committee of the President (p. 5) and Faculty Senate. The Council establishes general policies and standards of the Graduate School and assists the dean of the Graduate School in the execution of policy related to graduate study and associated research. The Graduate School staff (p. 5) provides support to the council by reviewing and editing all proposals. submitted by administrative and/or academic units to ensure they comply with Graduate Council policy.

The Graduate Council consists of twelve members of the Graduate Faculty, a graduate student elected by the Graduate Student Council, and the Dean of the Graduate School. Six of the twelve faculty members of the Graduate Council are elected by the Graduate Faculty for overlapping terms of three years.

History

Graduate study at UF existed while the University was still on its Lake City campus. However, the first graduate degrees, two Master of Arts with a major in English, were awarded on the Gainesville campus in 1906. The first Master of Science was awarded in 1908, with a major in entomology. The first programs leading to the Ph.D. were approved in 1930, and the first degrees were awarded in 1934, one with a major in chemistry and the other with a major in pharmacy. The first Ed.D. was awarded in 1948. Graduate study has grown phenomenally at UF. In 1930, 33 degrees were awarded in 12 fields. In 1940, 66 degrees were awarded in 16 fields. Over the 2021-2022 academic year, UF awarded 6,278 graduate degrees in more than 196 fields, including 1096 Ph.D. degrees.
